

Instructions for How a Bill Becomes a Law Board Game

- One can become involved at any step in the legislative process. Select a game piece and number between 1 and 50.
- Place your playing piece on the square corresponding with the number you have selected.
- Take turns shaking the dice within your team. Once you shake the dice, move your game piece according to the roll. Pay special attention to places along the way where you could weigh-in on public policies that relate to children's health and wellbeing.
- You will not likely have enough time to finish the game, but playing the game will help build a greater familiarity with the legislative process and where and when they can influence the process.
