

Child Victims of Violence: Forging Multidisciplinary Approaches
Pre-Conference Session | San Diego International Conference on Child and Family Maltreatment
Sunday, January 27, 2013

Discussion Guide

Part I. Strategy and Advocacy

What are the Key Messages?

What marching orders do you want people to do? What's "the ask"?

What do you need to successfully share these messages?

- Tools
- Data/Research
- Other?

Knocking down silos

- What are they?
- Where do they exist? What systems are involved?
- What are the strategies for overcoming them?

Who needs to be motivated?

What will motivate people?

Part II. Putting It All into Practice

What would a successful medical home for children exposed to violence look like?

What are the most significant barriers to creating/implementing a medical home for children exposed to violence?

What are the most significant barriers to working with this population?

What can you do? What are you doing already that can act as a model?

How do you get people to start?

- In your own practice/agency?
- In your community?

How do you partner with collaborators?

What do pediatricians need to do this work?

- Education
- Communication networks
- Support
- Practice/staffing models
- Tools to identify, document activities, etc
- Community resources

What format (eg, narratives, presentations, etc) do you use to share successes? What methods do you use? (eg, Web site, social media, etc)