Identify the Resources and Tools to Support the Implementation of the Pediatric Public Health (PPH) Curriculum Guide

General Planning Strategies for a PPH Curriculum

The PPH curriculum guide is designed to be flexible and to fit into your existing residency program.

Each “Step” will provide you with suggestions, activities, and tools to plan and implement a PPH curriculum into your residency program.

Step 4: Identify the tools and resources available to you to teach residents about public health.

- What tools are currently used in your residency program to teach residents about public health?
- What resources are currently used in your residency program to teach residents about public health?
- What on-line activities or modules are you aware of that can be used to teach the goals and objectives of the PPH curriculum guide?
- What existing prepared Power Point presentations are available to you to teach objectives of the PPH curriculum guide?
- What resources exist to provide faculty with continuing education and training on public health?

*Use the multiple resources in the Step 4 Folder to guide this step.

*You can find suggested activities and resources (on-line modules, articles, etc) to support the teaching of the goals and objectives of the PPH curriculum guide.

(Modified from the AAP Breastfeeding Curriculum Website found at http://www.aap.org/breastfeeding/curriculum/gen_implementation_strategies.html)